

WCA 2007

June 12-15, 2007 - Omni Shoreham Hotel - Washington, DC

celebrating 20 years

April 26, 2007
For Immediate Release

WCA Contact:
Susan Polyakova
T: (202) 452-7823
E: Susan@wcai.com

Clearwire Contacts:
Teresa Fausti
T: (425) 216-4556
E: Teresa.Fausti@clearwire.com

Helen Chung
T: (425) 216-4551
E: Helen.Chung@clearwire.com

Clearwire CEO Ben Wolff To Keynote WCA 2007 June 13 In Washington, DC

WASHINGTON, DC (April 26, 2007) – The Chief Executive Officer of Clearwire Corporation (NASDAQ:CLWR) will deliver the opening keynote address on June 13 at the industry's premier annual convention WCA 2007, produced by the Wireless Communications Association International (WCA). Clearwire is the world's largest WiMAX-class service provider bringing next-generation wireless Internet services that enable fast, simple, portable and reliable communications anytime and anywhere within Clearwire's coverage area.

Clearwire CEO Ben Wolff will discuss Clearwire's experience as it continues to implement its vision for wireless high-speed Internet and personal broadband services in the U.S. and internationally.

Clearwire recently announced "record subscriber growth" of more than 25% in the first quarter of this year, compared to the end of 2006 when it had about 206,000 broadband wireless users. The company ended the quarter with about 258,000 subscribers, which, it said, represents a 41% increase year-over-year. More than 232,000 of Clearwire's subscribers are domestic U.S. customers, but the company also provides service in Belgium and Ireland, and has partnered with other service providers in Denmark and Mexico. In addition, the company owns significant spectrum holdings in the U.S. and in Europe.

"As the wireless broadband industry comes of age, we are thrilled to host Clearwire's top executive," commented WCA President Andrew Kreig. "Clearwire occupies a unique leadership position for our industry as a start-up entirely focused on next-generation broadband wireless services that already has achieved the industry's largest deployments in the U.S. and globally. We at WCA eagerly anticipate Clearwire's progress report and inspiring vision."

About Clearwire

Clearwire, founded in October 2003 by Craig O. McCaw, is a provider of reliable, wireless high-speed Internet service. Headquartered in Kirkland, Wash., the company launched its first market in August 2004 and now offers service in 37 metro markets, covering approximately 8.9 million people in more than 350 municipalities in Alaska, California, Florida, Hawaii, Idaho, Minnesota, Nevada, North Carolina, Oregon, Texas, Washington and Wisconsin in the United States, as well as 1.2 million people in Ireland, Belgium and Denmark (under the Clearwire name through Danske Telecom). Details: www.clearwire.com.

About Ben Wolff

Clearwire CEO Ben Wolff has served as Clearwire's Chief Executive Officer and as a director since January 2007. He served as Clearwire's Co-President and Chief Strategy Officer from October 2005 to January 2007, and as Co-Chief Executive Officer from May 2006 to January 2007. Previously, he served as Clearwire's Executive Vice President from April 2004 to October 2005. In addition, he is the president of and a partner in Eagle River Holdings, LLC, Craig McCaw's private investment company, and he serves as a director of ICO Global and ICO North America. From August 1994 until April 2004, he was a lawyer with Davis Wright Tremaine LLP, where he became a partner in January 1998. His practice focused on mergers and acquisitions, corporate finance and strategic alliance transactions.

About the Wireless Communications Association International (WCA)

Founded in 1988, WCA is the non-profit trade association for the wireless broadband industry. Its 250 member companies on six continents represent the bulk of the sector's leading carriers, system integrators, vendors, educators and consultants. WCA is an established leader in government relations, technology standards and industry event organization. Its annual convention WCA 2007 will be from June 12-15 at the Omni Shoreham Hotel in Washington, DC. The convention will feature more than 120 prominent speakers and an exhibit floor showing the latest advances by next-generation solutions providers. Details: www.wcai.com. ###